- Check with your airline to determine boarding restrictions for passengers as well as luggage size and weight restrictions (commonly known as Contracts of Carriage). We are not responsible for airline surcharges or an airline's refusal of boarding for clients who violate the airline's terms.
- It is now a requirement of most cruise lines that passengers check-in on-line a minimum of four days prior to sailing. Check with your individual cruise line for check-in requirements.
- Please note that pregnant women may be denied boarding by some cruise lines. It is your responsibility to read the terms of your cruise agreement.
- It is your responsibility to provide SunSational Vacations, LLC with the proper spelling of travelers' names exactly as they appear on passports, in writing, prior to a deposit being made.
- By submitting a deposit for your trip, you agree to pay any applicable service charges imposed by SunSational Vacations, LLC as outlined in the Service Charge schedule.

Proof of Citizenship

United States citizens traveling outside the U.S. via air must have a valid passport. Residents of all other countries must have a valid passport for travel. Most cruise lines require valid passports for travel regardless of the port of embarkation. We will advise you of the supplier's requirements. Most countries require passports be valid for six months after your travel date.

We are not responsible if passengers are denied boarding because they do not have proper documentation. Travel insurance does not cover refusal of passage due to improper documentation. Do not pack proof of citizenship, prescriptions or lithium batteries in your checked luggage.

Please review the terms and conditions from your supplier for their cancellation policy and all other important terms and conditions.
